

Gi-Gi Leung

Graphic and packaging designer

founded Gi-Space Design after an extensive career as a creative director for over ten years. She joined Sotheby's as Vice President, Design & Creative Services, Creative Director, and North America. Gi-Gi managed a 12-person design division servicing more than 80 different internal departments. Her team spearheaded the overall modernization of the brand and implementation of new design standards. Prior to joining Sotheby's, she was Senior Vice President, Creative Director, for Sullivan and Company, a marketing and design firm, where she was involved in developing marketing strategies and implementing strategic collateral systems for Fortune 500 companies.

Gi-Gi is a native of Hong Kong and is fluent in Mandarin and Cantonese. She graduated from the Art Center College of Design, in Pasadena, California, with a BFA in Graphic/Packaging design.